The Martineum

was built upon a place that is rich in historical memories. A part of the building used to be the nunnery of the Carmelites. Earlier hermits lived on this hill. This place is only a few meters from the roman theatre where 1700 years ago Saint Quirinus bishop martyr was convicted because of his Christian belief. In the near many precious and valuable antiquities have been found.

The surrounding hills have been used as vineyards up to our times. This is the place where the Calvary-church was built in the city and at the stations - leading up to the church – there are some-hundred years old engravings. From our time we have to mention the cross in the garden - which rose above the Pope's altar in 1991 John Paul II.'s Szombathely visit.

In the greenbelt of the town, this quite and calm place is perfect for introspection, filling up or organizing community events.
